

COL. ROOSEVELT REFUTES CHARGES IN TEMPERANCE

Admits That He Occasionally,
But Was Never Drunk
Is Corroborated by Witnesses

MARQUETTE, Mich., May 27.—Theodore Roosevelt, a picture of ruddy vigor and perfect health, turned a square head and a square jaw in the direction of 12 farmers, teamsters, miners and woodsmen in court today and gave his character for sobriety as "not a total abstainer," but never intoxicated in his life. His testimony corroborated that of others who followed.

If the sturdy looking man who spent seven years of his life in performing the duties of president of the United States saw anything curious in his position of explaining to the 12 simple toilers of the woods and the mines that he was not really a drunkard, as charged in an alleged libelous editorial by the defendant, George A. Newett, his countenance did not betray it, for did his manner.

When Mr. Pound, his counsel, after giving an outline of the plaintiff's case, the jury called the colonel to the witness stand, the latter stepped forward.

Now tell the jury, instructed his lawyer, and the client who had been seated, twisted his chair to face the jury in their box and proceeded to tell them, as directed.

Drank Champagne at Dinners.
"At public dinners, I sometimes drank a glass of champagne, perhaps two, on an average I may say one glass of champagne a month."

The witness snapped his words out in his peculiar distinct, choppy enunciation, and added, after a momentary pause with emphasis: "And I do that in public."

At this Judge Richard C. Hannan, presiding over the court, rebuked an outburst of laughter.

There was a fine bed of mint at the White house," continued the witness, who was left pretty much to tell his own story. Then his eyes sparkled and he said:

"I may have drunk half a dozen mint juleps in a year. A light supply of wine was taken on the African expedition and of this a bottle of brandy was taken along for the colonel. The physician of the outfit measured it out to him from time to time for chills or other reasons."

"I touched nothing else in the 11 months," continued the witness, and the doctor apparently got on a swing at the end of the trip, measured what was left and found that I had consumed just seven ounces."

Cross Examination Brief.
Attorney Horace Andrews of the defense devoted little time to cross-examination. Mr. Andrews' manner is suave itself. He speaks softly. Only when a witness tries to enter into further explanations than his questions require, does his voice rise. At such times his tones seem to have claws.

Colonel Roosevelt, however, was a tractable witness, and Mr. Andrews made no attempt to change his testimony.

In epitome, the former president's testimony showed that he drank liquor or wine only when compelled to do so, in disposition or when the conventionalities of public occasions required, except that he takes a glass of light wine, rarely two, with his meals. Much of the succeeding testimony was introduced to indicate that the plaintiff's physical vigor, his functional perfection, his violence of exercise, and his immense capacity for work could not exist in the person of an individual who was "drunk and that not infrequently," as the alleged libelous editorial in the Iron Ore charged.

Physicians Called.
Important witnesses on this phase were Dr. Alex. Lambert, Roosevelt's family physician, and intimate friend of 30 years, and Dr. T. N. Rixey, surgeon general, U. S. N., retired, whose official duties during the McKinley and Roosevelt terms of office included little else than to guard the presidential physical well-being. Other witnesses were Jacob R. and Gilson Gardner, the latter a zoologist and writer, and the former a newspaper man.

When Mr. Andrews on cross-examination suggested that Dr. Lambert's knowledge of what the colonel drank at meal time did not extend to breakfast, the doctor, who talked very rapidly, sparkled back: "Oh, yes, indeed, many breakfasts. I have frequently stayed at the Roosevelt home all night."

CHAMBER COMMERCE
NIGHT AGAIN TO OPEN
BURNS STOCK SEASON

The opening night of the Burns Stock company, June 3, will be "Chamber of Commerce" night again this year. James A. Burns, owner of the theater, yesterday offered the chamber the proceeds from the first night of the summer season of his popular company, which last year proved such a successful venture, socially and financially. The company will open with "The Pirates of the Plains," a Canadian play that is staged with elaborate scenic effects and which was one of the most popular attractions last year.

A special committee has been appointed by the finance committee of the chamber to arrange for the affair. F. L. Whitney and William J. Howbert have been named, and others will be added in a few days.

SENATE WILL TRY TO FIND THE LOBBYIST

Senator Cummins Introduces Resolution Authorizing
An Investigation

Would Clear Own Skirts

President Wilson's Charges Create a Sensation in Both Branches.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—President Wilson's charge that an "insidious lobby" is at work in Washington in behalf of changes in the tariff bill, was brought to the formal notice of the senate today through a resolution by Senator Cummins demanding an immediate investigation by a committee of five senators to discover the identity of all persons who had made any efforts to present arguments or bring influences to bear in favor of changes in the tariff law. A similar resolution was introduced in the house by Representative Tamm of Illinois.

Senator Cummins attempted to secure immediate action on his resolution which would authorize the greatest investigation of so-called "lobbying" ever undertaken by congress.

Senator Gallinger at first objected to the resolution as "absurd." Later he withdrew his objection but on demand of Senator Owen, the Cummins resolution finally went over for one day without action.

Would Ascertain Names
The proposed investigation would require all senators to give names of any persons who had approached or written them in the interest of changes in the tariff law, would request President Wilson to furnish the names of persons referred to in his statement that a great and powerful lobby was at work and would authorize the senatorial committee to determine whether the action of any lobbyist who might be discovered was "proper or improper."

Senator Cummins declared he had presented the demand for an investigation because members of the senate had been put in a very "unenviable position."

"I recognize the right of any interest affected by pending legislation to appear and offer argument," he said. "I don't know that any lobbyists are here. None have approached me. But we have a tariff bill before us. A great many men are here, I suppose, for the purpose of putting legitimate arguments before the senate and its committee affecting that legislation."

To Clear Own Skirts
Now it is said by the highest authority that a lobby of great proportions, employing means of the most insidious and illegitimate character, is engaged in the effort to secure changes to the bill as now proposed. The public has been led to believe due to this influence.

"I don't know what a lobbyist is. It is the man who appears to make legitimate arguments, I am for him. But the country has a right to know what influences are surrounding the senate of the United States to know who is here and who is attempting by argument, by influence or by persuasion, to change the tariff rates."

The fight over the lobby resolution ended abruptly at the objection of Senator Owen. The president's public statement of yesterday had brought an early comment in the senate from Thornton, one of the senators from Louisiana, who opposes the president's free sugar program.

The Louisiana Situation.
Commenting on steps that Louisiana sugar interests had taken to secure certain information which he presented to the senate, he said:

"I suppose this is what some people would call insidious lobbying, but it's what we consider an earnest and legitimate effort to try and save a large part of our state from this impending blow."

An echo of the Cummins resolution was heard shortly after it was laid aside when Senator Dill of Rhode Island asked Chairman Simmons, of

Perkins Secretary,
Rogers Publicity
Man for Carnival

Fred C. Matthews, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce advertising committee, has appointed Frank Perkins secretary of the carnival committee, and he will have full charge of all the work of this season's Shan Kive.

H. S. Rogers, who had charge of the publicity work of the Shan Kive last year, will fill the same position again this year. Mr. Rogers is an experienced newspaper man and has had a great deal of experience in publicity work. The publicity campaign will begin June 1 and will continue until the close of the carnival, September 4. It is the intention to circulate a large amount of advertising matter throughout the railroads and the daily and weekly newspapers throughout the country.

"FINE DAY FOR DUCKS."
QUOTH DR. WEBB'S PETS

Yesterday had its joys, especially for ducks. During the shower at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the water became quite deep alongside the middle parking in place on North Cascade avenue. It was deep enough for eight ducks, belonging to Dr. Gerald B. Webb, 1222 North Cascade avenue, to swim in it easily. The ducks got out into the street in some manner, and attracted considerable attention as they went, paddled their way for fully a block southward before they were recaptured.

GARY AND FRICK DENY DECEPTION

STEEL TRUST CLERK IS DEFENSE WITNESS

Declares No Attempt Was Made to Fool Pres. Roosevelt
About Stock Deal.

NEW YORK, May 27.—Testimony to prove that Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, and H. C. Frick, a director, did not deceive President Roosevelt, as alleged by the government, when they told him it was necessary for the corporation to take over the Tennessee Coal and Iron company in order to stop the panic of 1907, was introduced by the defense today in the government suit to dissolve the corporation as an illegal combination.

The testimony was given by Thomas W. Joyce, a security clerk in the office of J. P. Morgan & Co.

According to the government complaint, Gary and Frick misrepresented the facts when they told President Roosevelt that the brokerage firm of Moore & Schley had among its assets a majority of the stock of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company, and that the firm would fail and the panic be accentuated unless the stock was exchanged as collateral for loans was exchanged for bonds of the United States Steel corporation. It was not true, the complaint stated, that Moore and Schley had an amount of stock even approximating a majority.

Had Half of Stock?
Mr. Joyce testified today that on Sunday, November 3, 1907, the day before Gary and Frick went to Washington to see the president, he had made an examination of Moore & Schley's books at the direction of Mr. Morgan and found that firm had 137,000 shares out of the Tennessee company's total outstanding stock of 238,000 shares, of which only 25,000 shares were not tied up in collateral pledged for loans. He said he had so reported to Mr. Morgan at the meeting of financiers held that night at the Morgan library, and that Mr. Morgan had said:

"Those 238,000 shares of which I have been told."

Judge Gary followed Joyce on the stand, and after testifying briefly concerning the organization and growth of the Illinois Steel company, of which he was a director in the early days of the steel industry, he was excused until tomorrow. The cross-examination of James A. Farrell, president of the corporation, was completed today.

"Dumped" Products Abroad
The custom of "dumping" American steel products abroad during periods of depression in the domestic market was one of the subjects about which he was questioned.

Mr. Farrell, who testified on direct examination that previous to the organization of the corporation the overseas markets were used by American steel companies "only for dumping purposes," and that the Steel corporation "had to live down" this business "before it could develop its export trade," today said that the overseas markets had been used for "dumping purposes," generally, but not entirely.

He could recall but one company that engaged in the practice, the Carnegie company, and in that case it was intermittent.

In 1895 one-third of the steel rail production of the Carnegie company went to Canada, Mr. Farrell testified. More rails were exported by the Carnegie company in 1902, the year after the acquisition by the corporation, than in 1897, 1899, 1900 and 1901, he said.

E. B. JACKSON PRESIDENT
COLLEGE STUDENT BODY

E. B. Jackson, son of W. S. Jackson, prominent Colorado Springs banker, yesterday was elected president of the student body at Colorado college at the annual election. Jackson also is captain of the baseball team and was editor of the "Nugget," the annual publication, last year.

Other officers elected are: Miss Katherine Copeland, vice president; Miss Mary Adams, secretary; Elbert S. Ward, treasurer; Judson Williams, junior member, Treen board; Ralph H. Hall, junior member athletic board; W. W. Scott, student member athletic board; Miss Stacie Erickson, women's junior representative; Frank Hall, underclass representative; Rex Attwater, manager of debating.

the Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Chairman Simmons of the senate finance committee will call at the state department tomorrow to discuss with Secretary Bryan the perplexing problems which have arisen because of foreign protests to administrative features of the bill. Practically the entire time of today's cabinet meeting was devoted by President Wilson and his advisers to this phase of the tariff situation.

Senator Simmons admitted that numerous protests had been filed with the committee from Germany, France, Great Britain and other foreign countries.

Complaints have been made that certain clauses of the Underwood bill would abrogate treaties with foreign countries. Senator Simmons was informed today that Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, who recently went to Berlin to confer with German tariff experts, was about to sail for America with a supplemental protest against the provision which would grant a 5 per cent discount in the tariff on imports in American-owned or controlled vessels. There have been intimations that President Wilson would not object to an elimination of this provision which is said to be held by Germany to be a violation of the commerce and navigation treaty of 1888.

Tariff Hearings Closed.
Tariff hearings by the senate finance subcommittee, which have been in progress for nearly a month, closed tonight and tomorrow will begin the actual work of revising the schedules as they come from the house with the close of the hearings.

The bill became the subject of discussion in the senate today, highlighted by references to President Wilson's denunciation of tariff lobbyists and other hits between Democratic senators on the sugar question.

Senator Thomas of Colorado, in a speech in which he declared he would support the Underwood bill as it comes from the finance committee, branded as a false reflection of public opinion, in his own state, a protest against the sugar schedule forwarded to the senate by bankers and commercial organizations in Denver. 3 WESTERN MEN
GET APPOINTMENT

Jones of New Mexico, Tallman of Nevada and Bruce of Arizona Land Plums.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—President Wilson today sent to the senate the following nominations:

First assistant secretary of the interior, Audubon A. Jones of Las Vegas, N. M.

Commissioner of the general land office, Charles M. Bruce of Arizona.

Mr. Jones is a lawyer who has made a specialty of public land laws. He was at one time president of the New Mexico Bar association and is a member of the board of regents of the agricultural college of New Mexico, chairman of the Democratic state central committee and a national committee man from that state.

He was born in Tennessee but has lived in New Mexico since boyhood. He has served as mayor of Las Vegas and United States district attorney for the fourth judicial district of New Mexico.

Mr. Tallman long has been a practicing lawyer in Nevada. Beginning in 1909 he was a member of the state senate for four years, being president pro tempore during the last session. He was chairman of the Democratic central state committee of Nevada and was his party's choice for congress in 1912.

Mr. Bruce is a Virginian by birth and for many years has resided in that state. For some time he lived in Arizona, and during Mr. Cleveland's second term as president, he was secretary of the territory of Arizona, and for one year acting governor. His nomination will be so changed as to send him to Virginia.

Ernest Bennett, the retiring commissioner of the general land office, will remain in Washington.

POWERS DELIVER THEIR ULTIMATUM
DEMAND THAT ALLIES
SIGN PEACE DRAFT

Drastic Order Issued to End
Deadlock in Negotiations at London.

LONDON, May 27.—This glowing pleasure in diplomatic circles of the great powers at the attitude of Greece and Serbia found expression today in what practically amounts to an ultimatum, which Sir Edward Grey, the British secretary for foreign affairs, delivered to the delegates of the belligerents.

The communication, which was couched in strong phrases without ambiguity made it clear that enough time had been spent in futile discussions of the peace settlement and that the moment had arrived for signing the draft treaty. Despite assertions to the contrary, the ambassadors from the first were asked to sign the modification of the draft, not because of the character of the proposed changes, which as because of the delay which would attend fresh discussions.

Furthermore, it was pointed out that the proposed modifications were useless in those cases which had been left in the hands of the powers. Consequently the delegates were informed that a decision had been reached that peace should be signed forthwith without modification.

Brook No Further Delay.
It also was intimated that those states which were prepared to sign should do so and that it would serve no purpose for those not prepared to sign to remain longer, thereby intimating that the realists may sometime sign the pact.

The Serbians and Greeks have notified their home governments of this situation and now are awaiting instructions. The Turks and Bulgarians are ready to sign and it is not expected that the Montenegrins will offer objections.

Some of the Balkan delegates express the opinion that the communication of the powers signifies more of intervention than of mediation. But the real reason behind the ultimatum lies in the determination of the allies to get the draft signed as soon as to be in a position to take up the big questions remaining for settlement after the preliminaries of peace are adopted.

A Constantinople dispatch says that the council of ministers had decided to enter all modifications of the peace draft suggested by the allies.

PERSONS INCLUDED

$81,500 Aggregate Amount
Assessed; Few Defendants Plead Guilty

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 27.—Phases aggregating $81,500 were imposed tonight in the United States district court by Judge R. Hazel, of Buffalo, in the cases of 60 corporations and eleven individual defendants, in the government's action against the so-called "coaster brake trust" for violation of the Sherman law. This afternoon six corporations and eight individuals pleaded guilty to charges of conspiring to restrain trade and attempting to monopolize domestic and foreign trade. Four individuals pleaded guilty, contending before the court that they were innocent of the crime. Six additional cases were continued by nolle prosequi.

The corporations and the fines here are: New Department Manufacturing Co., Buffalo, $10,000; Bristol Corp., $10,000; Corbin Bros. Corporation, New Britain, Conn., $10,000; Eclipse Machine Co., Elmira, N. Y., $10,000; Miami Cycle & Manufacturing Co., Middletown, N. Y., $10,000; Buffalo Metal Goods Co., Buffalo, $10,000; Almond Automobile Machinery Co., Chicago, $2,000.

The individuals fined are: Edwin E. Jackson, Jr., New York arbitrator for combination, $2,500; Frederick R. Huntington, New York arbitrator, $2,500; Albert F. RECEIVERSHIP ASKED
FOR FRISCO SYSTEM

Unable to Weather Financial

Embarrassments.

ST. LOUIS, May 27.—The appointment of the receivers of the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad here today took place about an hour after the appointment of similar receivers for the Chicago & Eastern Illinois, a subsidiary of the St. Louis & San Francisco, by the United States district court in Chicago.

The application for the appointment of receivers for the St. Louis & San Francisco was made to Circuit Judge Walter H. Sweeney. A receivership was urged as the only solution of the financial difficulties of the road by James Campbell of St. Louis, president of the North American company, a creditor of the road to the extent of $400,000. The immediate cause of the receivership was the maturing in June 1 of short time notes issued by the railroad for $2,250,000 which bore 5 per cent interest.

Chairman R. F. Vaquam of the railroad board of directors came to St. Louis last week to consult with local interests. The hope that some means would be found to tide the railroad company over was dissipated early today when Judge Sweeney and attorneys and directors for the railroad went into secret conference.

Formal Application Made.
At noon today it became known that petitions were being prepared for the appointment of a receiver and rumors started that this proceeding would be opposed.

Those rumors were verified in part when the formal application was presented to Judge Sweeney this afternoon. Attorneys Frederick W. Lehmann and Charles Nagel, representing certain creditors, and they professed to have as receivers men who were in (Continued on Page Three.)

SUGGESTIONS FOR GOOD OF COMMUNITY

Many New Ideas Advanced at Monthly Meeting Chamber of Commerce

Water Supply Must Be Conserved, Says Mayor;
Snowfall Light

Some suggestions offered at the monthly smoker of the Chamber of Commerce last night:

Make special effort to conserve the city's water supply by preventing waste by consumers. Mayor McKee said.

Abolish the board of control of the Chamber of Commerce, because it is not needed longer. L. S. Shingore.

Give pennants of water to tourists during summer and help them to have a good time thus keeping them longer. L. J. Newsome.

Try to make arrangements with the street car company to give rides to visitors who pay full fare for children, not being familiar with the system. J. C. Crox.

Make further arrangements for band concerts, especially in Monument Valley park. L. A. Dill.

Meet Indiana outside in July at Kansas City with large delegation of local boosters. County Commissioner Van E. Rouse.

Meet on the street, but knock at the meetings, not on the street. Roy Dady.

Arrange a Colorado Springs exhibit for the Colorado exposition planned at New York City. W. C. Dettler.

Suggestions for making the coming tourist season the most successful in years, boosters and a few well-placed ideas for changes, featured the monthly smoker of the Chamber of Commerce last night in the rooms of the organization in the Burns building. A large attendance was present. Many valuable ideas were presented by various members, and the meeting not only proved a success from the standpoint of business but also from that of pleasure. The moving picture of the Pike's Peak region were shown together with 187 new slides and a number of bulky motors for boosters.

Mayor Gives Talk.
Mayor McKee, who has just returned from a short inspection of the water system, declared that, although there has been less snow on the slopes of the Peak than for several years, there will be no shortage of water here this year. If consumers are careful in conserving water, he complimented the chamber for the work already accomplished the year and pledged the city's support of the organization. He also asked that all citizens cooperate to prevent waste of water, and that special (Continued on Page Three.)

COL. ROOSEVELT DEFIES HIS MALIGNS IN LIBEL SUIT

Colonel Roosevelt's testimony in substance as elicited by his attorneys, was as follows:

I was born in New York, October 27, 1858. Graduated from Harvard in 1880. In fall of 1881 I was elected to the New York legislature where I served three years.

In 1886 I ran for mayor of New York and was defeated.

In 1889 I was appointed civil service commissioner and served six years.

In 1893 I was appointed president of the police board of New York and served two years.

In 1897 I was appointed assistant secretary of the navy and served one year.

In May, 1898, I resigned to take the command of the 1st United States volunteer cavalry, commonly called the "Rough Riders," and served during the Spanish war. I was in the fighting around Santiago where we defeated the Spaniards.

I was promoted to be colonel of the regiment and made acting brigadier general, returning to Montana Point. The army was there disbanded in September.

I was at once nominated governor of New York and was elected. I served as governor until the end of my term, but before it ended in the spring of 1900, I was nominated for vice president on the ticket with President McKinley and was elected.

Becomes President.

I served as vice president from March 4, 1901, until September 14, 1901, when President McKinley died from the effects of the bullet wound of the assassin, Col. Theodore Roosevelt, who was elected president for the remainder of the term.

From 1883 to 1896 I spent considerable time on my cattle ranch on the Little Missouri in the present state of North Dakota.

I have never drunk a cocktail or a highball in my life. With the exception, however, of a few drinks of whisky or brandy, which I have drunk on a few occasions, I have never drunk anything else.

Prefers Wine to Beer.

I have never drunk beer nor do I drink red wine. The only wine that I have drunk has been only white wine, Madeira, champagne or very occasionally a glass of sherry.

I have never drunk anything else. I have never drunk anything else. I have never drunk anything else. I have never drunk anything else.

Doesn't Drink Whisky.

During the last 15 years I don't believe I have drunk whisky straight or with water more than half a dozen times. On the African trip, the expedition took along a case of champagne, a case of brandy and a bottle of brandy.

The bottle of brandy was taken for me because I don't drink whisky.

Some of the other members of the party, however, were not so abstemious. They were not so abstemious. They were not so abstemious. They were not so abstemious.

In 1897 I was appointed assistant secretary of the navy and served one year.

In May, 1898, I resigned to take the command of the 1st United States volunteer cavalry, commonly called the "Rough Riders," and served during the Spanish war. I was in the fighting around Santiago where we defeated the Spaniards.

I was promoted to be colonel of the regiment and made acting brigadier general, returning to Montana Point. The army was there disbanded in September.

Becomes President.

I served as vice president from March 4, 1901, until September 14, 1901, when President McKinley died from the effects of the bullet wound of the assassin, Col. Theodore Roosevelt, who was elected president for the remainder of the term.

From 1883 to 1896 I spent considerable time on my cattle ranch on the Little Missouri in the present state of North Dakota.

I have never drunk a cocktail or a highball in my life. With the exception, however, of a few drinks of whisky or brandy, which I have drunk on a few occasions, I have never drunk anything else.

Prefers Wine to Beer.

I have never drunk beer nor do I drink red wine. The only wine that I have drunk has been only white wine, Madeira, champagne or very occasionally a glass of sherry.

I have never drunk anything else. I have never drunk anything else. I have never drunk anything else. I have never drunk anything else.

Doesn't Drink Whisky.

During the last 15 years I don't believe I have drunk whisky straight or with water more than half a dozen times. On the African trip, the expedition took along a case of champagne, a case of brandy and a bottle of brandy.

The bottle of brandy was taken for me because I don't drink whisky.

Some of the other members of the party, however, were not so abstemious. They were not so abstemious. They were not so abstemious. They were not so abstemious.

non's evening reception I went in company with Mr. Loeb and with James Sloan, a secret service man. The occasion was not in the afternoon but in the evening. We left the White house shortly after 9 and returned a little after 11. Mr. Loeb coming back with me and Sloan seeing me to the carriage when I left.

On such occasions Mr. Loeb frequently stayed and did some work in the study after our return to the White house. On all public occasions Mr. Loeb went with me and also two secret service men. On the Cannon occasion I remember one of the men was Mr. Sloan. It is the duty of the secret service men to go with me and to see me safely back to the White house, but on this occasion as Sloan was in Cannon's district and had a number of friends there he did not come back with me but said good-by at the carriage and returned to the gathering. Mr. Loeb, however, returned to the White house. I was with Mr. Newberry, Mr. Cortelyou and others, while Mr. Sloan was in the occasion nor on any other occasion did I take a glass of whisky or of brandy or any other liquor in my hand. On this occasion I took a sandwich and a glass of champagne which I drank standing up, proposing the health of the speaker on his seventieth birthday.

Never Treated on Whisky.

No man who knew me ever asked me to take any whisky because they knew that under no circumstances did I take it and no man on this occasion ever proposed to me to take whisky. Neither while in the White house nor at any other time have I drunk or taken liquor between meals except as above described and in the White house I not only did not drink whisky or brandy but I did not know where any whisky or brandy was.

Unless I shaved myself I was always shaved by Delaney in the room between my room and Mr. Loeb's, immediately before luncheon and never on any occasion during the time that I was in the White house did I touch a drop of anything during the day prior to being shaved. The routine at the White house was as follows: We had breakfast at 8 or 8:30. Mrs. Roosevelt, the children and myself. After breakfast we went to the study. Mrs. Roosevelt and I walked around the White house for 20 minutes or half an hour. I then came over to the White house office and as soon as I had finished my papers I went to the hall and Mr. Loeb came in. After about half an hour of this the senators and congressmen would begin to arrive. If it was an ordinary day they would generally continue to arrive until 1 or 1:30. On a special cabinet day they would stop at 11 o'clock.

Goes to Get Shaved.

At 11 o'clock when I went in to get shaved, I would usually get Mr. Loeb in and let him or he would take my mail. I would then get shaved. After shaving I would go to the study and receive directions about the various things that had arisen during the morning. I would also frequently see some member of the cabinet or some other official and would be asked to sign some papers or to give some directions. I would then go to the wash room and continue talking with me and getting directions and laying matters before me. While I was shaving, I would then go to the wash room and continue talking with me and getting directions and laying matters before me. While I was shaving, I would then go to the wash room and continue talking with me and getting directions and laying matters before me.

Never Leaves for Drink.

I never in my life, while in the White house or anywhere else, have ever left a room for the purpose of getting a drink between meals and I could not have been a physical impossibility for me to have left the room for any such purpose at any period of my work in the White house.

On the 17th and 18th of February, 1901, I was in New York with Mrs. Roosevelt and Mr. Loeb. We were at the Marquis hotel at 12 East Thirty-first street. Mr. Roosevelt and my daughter and I had breakfast served in our apartment at about 8 o'clock. After breakfast we went to the study. Mrs. Roosevelt and I walked down Madison avenue to the Twenty-third street car and then to the office. We went to the office and continued talking with me and getting directions and laying matters before me. While I was shaving, I would then go to the wash room and continue talking with me and getting directions and laying matters before me.

Stranger at Waldorf.

I have not been in the Waldorf, unless for a public dinner, for certainly since I was in the White house. I was not in the Waldorf in the morning of the day when Mr. Loeb and I went to the Waldorf. On neither of those two days did I go into or come out of any building in Forty-second street and on neither of those two days did I go to the Waldorf. Between 4 and 5 o'clock the avenue is definitely crowded.

Apollonius Drink.

I stopped and spoke a few sentences to a dinner of doctors at their earnest and repeated request. I then made my way back to the car and drank a bottle of Apollonius water, in a glass with ice, but without any liquor of any kind. When I went to bed I took two spoonfuls of brandy in milk and that was the only drink of brandy I had that day. I was in Dublin only that day.

Wine and Champagne.

While I was governor and always my habit in using wine and champagne have been precisely as stated. Cross-examination, 20 minutes. It was conducted by Horace Andrews of the defense as follows:

Always Champagne.

While at Washington almost all the entertaining was at the White house itself but each member of the cabinet gave a dinner and I believe there was always champagne at those dinners and I drank a glass or two of champagne at each of those dinners. I also on perhaps a dozen occasions went out, for instance to the Gridiron club dinners or to the reception of Speaker Cannon's seventieth birthday to a dinner of the New York delegation in congress. On these occasions I drank only at the White house. On the occasion of Mr. Can-

Q—Do you know Mr. George Shiras?

A— I know Mr. Shiras.

Q—Do you know Mr. Shiras is not a resident of Marquette?

A— I have heard that he does not live here regularly.

Q—Mr. Shiras really is not a resident in this city?

A— I don't know.

Q—It was in Washington that you met Mr. Shiras?

A— Yes, when he was in congress.

Q—Since you came back from Africa you have been connected with the Outlook at New York?

A— I have.

Q—And connected some in politics?

A— And in politics also.

Q—Now your acquaintance while you were in the city of Washington and possibly at Albany was with political men?

A— Not many were political men. A great many were writers of history and naturalists.

Friends in Congress.

Q—You have many friends in congress, have you not?

A— I have known almost every senator.

Q—You know also a great many congressmen and received a great many congressmen at the White house and they invited you to their residences?

A— I received a great many congressmen, but they rarely invited me to their residences.

Q—Did I understand you to say that you have never taken anything in the way of intoxicating liquors?

A— You did not say so, I understand me; you understood me to say that I did so only in small quantities.

Q—The only explicit or medical liquors you took in general would be a little brandy with milk?

A— A teaspoonful in a tumblerful of milk.

Q—You have never for 15 years taken more than a dozen glasses of whisky in 15 years?

A— I did not drink a dozen glasses of whisky in 15 years.

Q—You never drank any whisky?

A— I said that in the 15 years it would probably not be more than a dozen times I have drunk whisky.

Q—Now the wine you drank is light wine?

A— Yes, sir.

Q—What do you mean by light wine?

A— I mean white wines and sometimes it may be a little Madeira.

Q—Any other kind of wine?

A— I may have drunk a little red wine and occasionally a little sherry.

Q—You don't keep any wine of any kind in your house?

A— No.

Q—Do you keep wine of any kind in your house?

A— Yes.

Q—In the house, I object to that.

The Court—You may note an exception.

Roosevelt—I continued to keep wine as I found my predecessors had done.

Q—Did you drink whisky or have you drunk whisky on your trips?

A— No, except as I have described, a teaspoonful in a glass of water.

Q—Now did you carry a flask of whisky or brandy with you on your trips?

A— I did not.

Knows Wallace.

Q—Do you know Mr. Wallace of Detroit?

A— Yes.

Q—Is he his business?

A— I don't know.

Q—Did he have anything to do with the beginning of this suit, if you know?

A— That I cannot tell.

Q—Don't you know who began this important suit?

A— I was in the Mercy hospital at the time.

Q—Did you know that Mr. Wallace had charge of it and did you know that he had charge of employing counsel?

A— That I could not say.

Q—Had you met Mr. Pound up to that time?

A— I may have met him.

Q—But have you any memory of it?

A— I don't remember whether I met him or not.

Q—Was Mr. Pound employed by you, that is, employed by you personally?

A— No, he was not employed by me personally.

Who Pays Expenses?

Q—Do you know who paid for the expense of taking testimony and all that?

A— Did you stand that expense?

Q—And it has not been borne by any organization in the state of Michigan?

A— It has not.

Q—Have you or any other person had charge of it?

A— Mr. Pound has charge of it.

Mr. Andrews—I think that is all.

On redirect examination, he was asked:

Q—As I understand it, you have no recollection of having seen Mr. Pound in Michigan or Chicago prior to the beginning of this suit, which was some time in the month of October?

A— I have no recollection.

Q—As a matter of fact you communicated with Mr. Pound by letter as soon as you were sufficiently able to do so?

(Objected to as leading by Mr. Andrews.)

Assumes Responsibility.

A— I assume complete responsibility. No organization has any responsibility excepting myself. I have it all.

Q—You have hired your attorneys and stood all the expense in regard to this case?

A— Yes.

The court—It seems to me the question is leading.

This concluded the examination.

Colonel Roosevelt was on the stand an hour and a minute.

Henry Rauthier, city assessor of Isipeming, was the next witness. He testified concerning the publication of the alleged libel.

Attorneys for Mr. Newell said they would concede the publication of the article, but Colonel Roosevelt's attorneys stated that they would insist upon proving it.

are wounded or shocked, as Mr. Roosevelt was, would have gone into delirium.

The witness spoke of hunting trips in Colorado, Montana, the Dakotas and in Louisiana in which he was the plaintiff's companion. There was usually liquor in camp, but Roosevelt did not carry it.

Dr. Rixey, as White house physician, viewed his responsibility with great gravity and according to his testimony fairly haunted the plaintiff during his seven years at Washington. He hovered over the president like an anxious mother over her infant; he visited him every morning and crept upon him in the dark and at all kinds of unexpected hours to see that the chief executive of the nation was not taking chances with his health. He watched what the president ate and what he drank and generally supervised his diet. He gave the plaintiff a clean bill of health.

Could Not Have Been Drunk.

One statement which he made in low tones caused the plaintiff to smile appreciably and to glance sharply at the jury to observe if they heard it. That was when the witness said, "In the seven and one-half years I was at the White house with Colonel Roosevelt, he could not have gotten drunk without my knowing it."

Gilson Gardner said that he had attended many public functions with Colonel Roosevelt and had never seen him under the influence of liquor.

Asked if the former president had ever been under the influence of liquor in his presence, Mr. Rixey replied with gusto, "Oh, Lord, no."

Asked if Mr. Roosevelt used coarse or profane language, the witness, a close friend of the former president, replied sharply, "Mr. Roosevelt is a gentleman."

There was some discussion as to whether it was necessary to prove the gentility of the former president. The court ruled that it be taken for granted.

Robert Bacon, James R. Garfield and Gifford Pinchot probably will testify tomorrow, among others.

At 4:45 p. m. the court adjourned until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

INVESTIGATION

Goff of West Virginia, and Gallinger of New Hampshire, on account of statements made in debate relating to the governor's refusal to send troops to Cincinnati at the time of the recent street car strike.

Senators Stone, speaking from the Democratic side, and Lodge, for the Republicans, declared the reading of the letter was in violation of the senate rules, the latter expressing the hope that it would be expunged from the record. The letter was permitted to stand, however, after Senators Gallinger and Goff had made vigorous replies to Governor Cox and Senator Pomerene had expressed the conviction that he had not violated the rules.

Senator Pomerene speaking to the Kern resolution for an inquiry into the West Virginia coal fields, defined the action of Governor Cox in refusing to send troops into Cincinnati at the time of the strike and reviewed remarks of the Republican senators criticizing the governor for failure to declare martial law. He said he felt it his duty to present Governor Cox's own statement received in a letter to him.

Governor Cox "Indifferent"

"I am personally indifferent," wrote the Ohio governor, "to the intemperate observations of the two members of your body except the thought that if there were any doubt in my own mind about the propriety of my conduct, it would be entirely removed by the senatorial evidence of disapproval."

Senator Gallinger declared that if the Senator from Ohio had outlined the nature of the letter he never would have contributed it to the senate records because there was a rule to prevent it. However, he added, the governor of Ohio has a right to make any observations concerning me that he sees fit and I am at liberty to form any opinion of him that I see fit."

Senator Goff declared there had just been read a communication that was an insult to the senate and a degradation to the state of Ohio. Senator Pomerene defended his action.

"If I have in any way violated the proprieties of the senate," he said, "no one regrets it more than I. But I am not content that I have done so. The senators did not hesitate to reflect upon a state and to criticize a distinguished governor and I did not feel the utterances in the letter were different in kind or degree from the utterances of the senators themselves."

At this point Senator Bacon broke in continuing debate on the Kern resolution and the incident closed.

WOOD TRIES TO ESTABLISH ALIBI

CLAIMS HE WAS NOT AT SECRET CONFERENCE

Attended Meeting With Strikers
to Arrange Settlement,
Declares Witness

BOSTON, May 27.—The defense in the dynamite conspiracy trial succeeded today in introducing evidence that on the night of January 19, 1912, at the hours when the government alleges President William M. Wood, of the American Woolen company, and Frederick E. Atteaux were furthering a conspiracy to plant dynamite at Lawrence, both defendants were attending a conference of mill agents at which an appeal to the strikers to return to work was agreed upon.

Since the beginning of the trial the prosecution has sought to prove that Wood, Atteaux and Dennis J. Collins conspired with John J. Breck and Ernest W. Pittman to produce public opinion against the strike of textile operatives at Lawrence by hiding dynamite on premises occupied by the strikers.

The evidence regarding the conference was brought out on the cross examination of Walter M. Lamont, agent of the Wood mill, one of the American Woolen company's plants at Lawrence. On his direct examination the witness said that he saw Atteaux at Wood's home at Andover on the night of January 19.

Replying to questions by Henry F. Hurlbut, counsel for Wood, Lamont said that Wood and Atteaux were attending a conference participated in by agents and other officials of the American Woolen company.

Attention to figures showing that a Michigan beet sugar company had a capitalization of over $3,000,000, $5,000,000 of which was scheduled as good will.

"Yes," said Senator Thomas, "and of the $141,000,000 capitalization of this industry in America, $50,000,000 is water, good will, and anything except actual capital and an incubus on the productive energy of the country, and these manufacturers charge the Colorado consumer of their sugar the New York price plus the freight charge from New York to Denver."

Senator Thornton of Louisiana spoke of remarks made by Senator Martin, referring to the Louisiana senators as "clannish howlers." Senator Martin replied that he had not meant to reflect upon the Louisiana senators, but "But," Senator Martin continued, "I deny the right of the senators from Louisiana to come to the people of New Jersey and demand that we shall hold them up by the chin and keep their heads above water. You have known for a long time what was coming, and why in heaven's name haven't you adjusted yourselves? If you can't grow sugar, grow something else."

Senator Bryan of Florida introduced an amendment to the bill which would increase the tariff on lemons and other citrus fruits. The size of the boxes which take an 18-cent duty under the Underwood bill would be reduced from one and one-fourth cubic feet to one cubic foot. The sizes taking higher duties would be decreased one-half cubic foot and one cubic foot, respectively.

Part of the Republican program for debating the tariff bill in the senate was outlined today.

More than 20 senators have long speeches in preparation. Senator La Follette plans to talk for one whole week on many features of the bill.

Senator Burton will make one of the first speeches. Senator Oliver will discuss the iron and steel schedule. Senator Lodge, the textile schedule. Senators McCumber, Gronna, Norris, Nelson and Clapp, the agricultural schedule. Senator Smoot, the wool schedule, while Senators Borah, Works and Cummins are preparing lengthy arguments.

Many communications from people in Colorado, urging a senator to stand by the Democratic program, were read. One charged that employees of the sugar mills there had been ordered to write letters to their senators and to President Wilson, protesting against the Underwood bill, and to advise the heads of their respective departments when they had written the letters.

A man named Price, formerly employed by the Great Western Sugar company, had enclosed a letter received from the head of the company instructing him to write a letter of protest. The writer said he recently had been laid off and that when he applied again for work he was taken back at reduced wages, "because of the uncertainty about the tariff." Mr. Price also had enclosed a letter from the Great Western Sugar company to farmers, stating that under the proposed tariff the best that it could pay for sugar beets would be $1.50 a ton.

Attacks Overcapitalization.
"Right here," said Senator Thomas, "I want to call attention to the fact that some years ago the beet sugar manufacturers of the state notified the farmers that they would be able to pay them for beets at that time the farmers refused to grow beets at that price and the manufacturers were forced to pay higher prices, which it has been demonstrated they could well afford to do."

Senator Thomas attacked the overcapitalization of the beet sugar companies, declaring that the $30,000,000 capitalization of the companies in Colorado was $30,000,000 water, upon which they paid dividends on the "phantom" of water or stock, and that the one of the companies had a surplus in excess of $10,000,000. "At least they did have a surplus," the senator continued, "before they began this false propaganda against the tariff bill. How much they will spend for that and how much of it hereafter will be treated as cost of production, I don't know. These heavily overcapitalized companies want to rob the people to pay a profit on their capital invested and manufactured with printing presses and fountain pens."

Senator Reed of Missouri called at the finance committee, when the senate might expect to get the material he presented to the subcommittee in the shape of briefs. Senator Simmons replied that one book of briefs probably would be available tomorrow.

Senator Lippitt referred to the "seemingly almost organized attempt" to stifle information in regard to the tariff bill. One report, he said, was that those who came to Washington to testify in regard to the schedules had been threatened with "hanging as high as Haman," while another said a million dollar fund would be raised to investigate those who testified.

Creates Sensation.
Many who assumed that the president's statement referred to them—although he called none by name and designated none personally even by inference—began issuing statements and prepared interviews to justify their position.

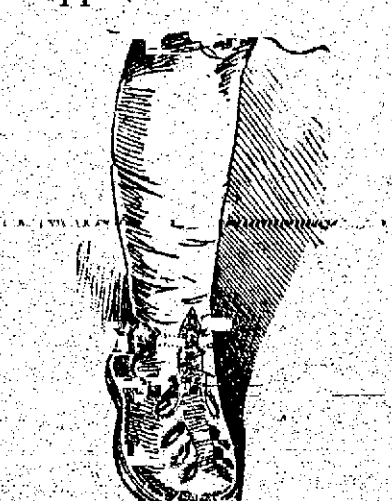

Men prominent for many years in official life, including former United States senators, now identified with either sugar or wool interests in the organized effort against the Underwood bill, were disconcerted after reading the president's declaration and speculating on its probable effect.

Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee, reiterated today his statement that the lobbyists were not getting very far, adding that never in his legislative experience had he ever seen so determined and so extensive a lobby. The expenses of the wool and sugar lobbies in Washington alone, to say nothing of the expenses of literature circulation and advertising, amounts to thousands of dollars a day.

More than 100 representatives of varied industries were clamoring early today at the doors of the senate finance subcommittee rooms to be heard

Senator Kenyon of Iowa, Republican, was an early caller at the White house today to commend President Wilson for his stand against lobbyists.

The Investment Bankers' association of New York through its counsel, Robert R. Reed, filed protests today against the $4,000 exemption of the income tax. The association urged that the exemptions may be on incomes under $1,000 with $500 additional for each person dependent on the $1,000 income, no surtax to be assessed except on incomes over $20,000.

RECEIVERSHIP ASKED

no way connected with the railroad, thus opposing the appointment of President Winchell and Mr. West, whose trust company has looked after many of the financial affairs of the road in the past.

The objections were overruled. The application for the appointment of receivers was laid before the court by Henry S. Priest, representing the directors of the railroad and the principal bondholders and acting in behalf of the North American company.

Holds Land Grant Mortgage.

The North American company is understood to hold as collateral on its loan of $400,000 all the first mortgage bonds on the railroad's federal land grant of 2,250,000 acres in Arizona and New Mexico and $200,000 first mortgage bonds of the New Orleans, Texas & Mexico Railroad company, a subsidiary.

The financial difficulties of the railroad are of long standing and are attributed in part to the southwestern floods of 1911 and 1912, to the increased wages of railway employees and to the high price of money.

The ownership of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois, it is stated, also has proven a financial drain on the parent system.

The St. Louis & San Francisco railroad long was leased to the Atchafalaya, Topeka & Santa Fe. In 1898, the road became independent. Four years later it absorbed the Kansas City, Fort Scott & Memphis, extending from Kansas City to Birmingham, Ala., and in 1904 acquired the Chicago & Eastern Illinois.

In 1903, the Frisco became merged into the Rock Island system. This merger continued until 1909, but in that year the Frisco passed into the hands of a syndicate headed by B. F. Younk, the late Edward Hawley and a group of St. Louis capitalists. It has approximately 7,500 miles of tracks.

N. Y. TEACHER WILL BRING PUPILS HERE

Another musician who plans to join the summer colony here this year is Mr. William Nelson Burritt of New York city, who will have classes here from July 9 to September 1. A number of artists and teachers have planned to meet him here and work with him in the cool summer months. Mr. Burritt is known as one of the ablest educators in the whole field of music. His pupils, numbering many who are prominent in opera, concert and chamber music, have done a great deal of work with teachers all over the country. He has spent more than 30 years in research work, teaching in Germany, Italy, France, England and America, and his reputation and the fact that he is to teach here for two months will be a feather in the city's musical cap.

Among the Colorado Springs people who have studied with Mr. Burritt is Mrs. Harry H. Seldomridge, and he is known to many other residents.

With Louis Persinger, already here, and Colorado Springs' other violinist, which takes place Friday afternoon and evening at the school.

The program for the afternoon recital, which will begin at 3 o'clock, is as follows:

- Piano—"The Nightingale," Kullak; Gwendolin McReynolds.
- Piano—"Rondo," Jolly Comrades, Op. 66, No. 1, Engleman; Bert Johnson.
- Piano—"Playful Rondo," Greene; Verne Ashby.

Those Bad Spells
Lebanon, Jct., Ky.—Mrs. Minnie Lamb, of this place, says: "I believe I would have been dead by now, had it not been for Cardui. I haven't had one of those bad spells since I commenced to use this medicine." Cardui is a specific medicine for the ill from which women suffer. Made from harmless, vegetable ingredients, Cardui is a safe, reliable remedy, and has been successfully used by weak and ailing women for more than fifty years. Thousands of women have been helped back to health and happiness by its use. Why not profit by their experience? A trial will convince you that Cardui is just what you need. Adv.

"Euterpe" Society Formed.
A society has been formed in the Colorado college school of music that is to be known as the "Euterpe" society of Colorado college. The organization was perfected May 23, and the following officers have been elected: President, Miss Jessie Wharton; vice president, Miss Hazel Hammers; secretary-treasurer, Miss Nancy Hart.

Although the new organization is formed too late to have its activities scheduled for this year, plans are being made for various functions with the opening of the fall term at college. Since the Pieta society was allowed to die several years ago there has been no club of the character of this new one, and it is expected to fill a large place in the college life.

Bristol School Parents.
There will be a meeting of the Parent-Teachers association of the Bristol school this afternoon at the school at 3:30 o'clock. There will be the annual business meeting, and the officers for the ensuing year will be elected. At four o'clock Dr. McKay will speak on "The Care of the Mouth and Teeth." All parents and patrons of the district are urged to be present.

STATE COMMISSION GOVERNMENT

THE suggestion made by Governor Hodges of Kansas, in a message to the legislature last month, that the commission form of government be applied to the state, has aroused a great deal of interest throughout the country. Governor Hodges' suggestions were somewhat indefinite, but that is unimportant for the details of the plan can best be worked out after there has been time for consideration. The thing to decide now is whether the weaknesses of the present system of state government justify experimenting with the new plan. Apparently there are a good many people in Kansas who think they do.

Governor Hodges believes there should be a legislative assembly with one, or at most two, members from each congressional district. This would mean a commission of either eight or sixteen men. He continues:

My judgment is that the Governor should be ex-officio a member and presiding officer of this assembly, and that it should be permitted to meet in such frequent and regular adjourned sessions as the exigencies of the public business may demand; that their terms of office be for four or six years, and that they be paid salaries sufficient to justify them in devoting their entire time to the public business. Such a legislative assembly would not, believe me, be more expensive than our present system. It would centralize responsibility and accountability, and under the check of the recall would be quickly responsive to the wishes of the people.

This plan would reduce the governor from his present somewhat exalted position to that of a mere member of the commission, elected either by the people, as at present, or by the other commissioners. The body would constitute the government of the state and would exercise both legislative and executive functions. It would be in session all the time and would therefore be more familiar with public conditions and needs than the members of a legislature can be who serve only for three months in each biennial period.

Whether men of a better type could be obtained by this method is a question, but it is reasonable to suppose that the closer public scrutiny of candidates and the higher salaries paid the commissioners would result in the selection of better men.

The attitude of the public toward innovations of this sort is more favorable now than it was a few years ago, and nobody need be surprised if Kansas decides to make a trial of the commission plan of state government. That state has always been a political experiment station, and the country at large may have an opportunity to profit by its experience with Governor Hodges' plan.

INCREASING CROP YIELDS

A WRITER in one of the agricultural journals declares that there has been a marked increase in the average yield per acre of all the more important crops in the last twenty-two years. Comparisons are made between the production of the year 1890 and that of 1912. They show that in that period the yield of corn increased from 23 1/2 bushels per acre to 27; wheat from a trifle below 12 bushels per acre to 14 bushels; oats from 25 to 30 bushels; potatoes from 70 to 96 bushels; barley from 21 1/2 to 25 1/2 bushels; rye from 11 1/2 to 16 1/2 bushels; buckwheat from 13 to 19 bushels; and hay from 1.2 to 1.4 tons per acre.

This is gratifying information, but considering the extraordinary activities of the Agricultural Department it would be surprising if conditions were otherwise. The Department is recognized at home and abroad as by far the most efficient organization of its kind in the world, and it has devoted a great deal of effort to the all-important subject of increasing the per-acre yield of the principal crops.

Nevertheless American farmers must still advance a long way before they can equal their European rivals. In France, Germany and other nations where the soil has been cultivated for more centuries than ours has decades, it regularly produces wheat crops two and three times as large per acre as the best American soil. The reason is that the European farmer cultivates the soil intensively, giving infinite pains and effort to fertilization, seed selection, crop rotation and like matters which most American farmers neglect.

Nearly all of the agricultural land in the United States is now settled, and if the food supply is to keep pace with the demands of the growing population the increase must come from an added yield per acre. There is no reason why American soil should not yield as large returns as European soil, and it will whenever the right methods are applied.

TOO MANY ELK

A FEW years ago it was feared that the elk were destined to join the buffalo in oblivion, and laws were passed to protect them from extinction. These laws are still in effect, but it is a question whether the necessity for them is not passed. Indeed, it probably would be a good thing to have a short open season for elk.

The largest herd in the country is the one in the Yellowstone National Park which, according to the annual report of the superintendent, now numbers more than 30,000. The cost of feeding the animals in winter is by no means small, for they consume immense quantities of hay. The next largest herd of elk is the one that congregates in the Jackson's Hole country, in Wyoming, in winter. They come down from the mountains seeking pasturage, and last winter the Government had to buy all of the hay grown by the ranchers in the vicinity to save them from starvation, and even then the supply was not enough.

Recently it has been proposed to bring a small herd of elk to this vicinity and release them in the mountains, in the hope that they would multiply and remain here permanently. But the trouble is that they won't remain unless securely fenced in, and this would be impossible. Elk in this region would go north in summer, and never come back.

NAVAL RIVALRY

A FEW days ago it was reported that the Navy Department is making plans for a battleship to be a great deal larger and more formidable than any other craft afloat, and which would cost $20,000,000. This is on the assumption that Congress will vote only one battleship, instead of two, as has been the custom for several years, and that we therefore ought to make the one ship as big and as costly as possible.

Admitting the necessity of keeping the navy in a state of efficiency, when, if ever, will we reach the limit of expenditure? The battleships which fought the war with Spain cost about $5,000,000 apiece. Now they cost $10,000,000 or $12,000,000 apiece, and the builders apparently are able and willing to double that figure.

The United States is not a military nation, in the European sense of the term. Yet 65.6 per cent of its total expenditures are for military purposes, which means for the support of the army and navy and for pensions. When we reflect that all of the European nations are even worse off, it is clear that the era of national bankruptcy is not far distant, for some of them.

FROM OTHER PENS

THE OTHER HALF OF THE MONROE DOCTRINE.

From the Kansas City Star.
That part of the Monroe doctrine which protects this hemisphere from European aggression is familiar to all persons of the United States. But the other part of it, that the United States should keep out of entangling alliances, is neither so familiarly known, nor is it so strictly maintained.

Yet John Quincy Adams, who first definitely formulated the doctrine and Monroe, who promulgated it, were at least as much interested in keeping American politics free of foreign interference as in maintaining the integrity of the North American and South American realms. And that part of the doctrine was particularly foreshadowed in Washington's farewell address.

Undoubtedly, a swiftly developing nation is bound by destiny or events to burst some swaddling clothes. A doctrine—no more than a constitution—cannot define an eternal way or set eternal limits. But it can describe a certain general guide of national conduct. And it may be well, in view of the diplomatic and some of very tragic results, to consider more closely the admonition against what Monroe called entangling alliances, and what might now be called international butting-in.

OUR "UNWORKED MINES"

From the Kansas City Star.
Why should Athens 2,000 years ago have produced as many more geniuses than Athens today? Why should the United Colonies of America, at the time of the revolution, have been so prolific a source of men in comparison with one of the modern states with approximately the same population?

These questions that have proved so perplexing to sociologists and other experts, engaged the attention of Prof. Lester F. Ward, the eminent scholar, who died last week. As a result of his study of the data Professor Ward inclined to the belief that nurture, not nature, is most at fault when geniuses seem rare.

In his opinion the raw material for genius is fairly plentiful. It is the opportunity that too often is lacking. In striking instances this fact is obvious. Without the Civil war, Grant would have died in obscurity. A Caesar born in Central Africa would have left no name. Under the repressive despotism of Napoleon, who refused to tolerate writers not lavish in his praise, France produced no literary geniuses.

Professor Ward found that the same sort of influences were always at work. In the stimulating environment of Paris, for instance, 35 times as many able men were produced as emerged in rural France. Certain forms of genius, of the aggressive and restless type, will make their own opportunities. Napoleon probably would have made his mark wherever his lot might have been cast. But there are other forms of temperament, less aggressive and more sensitive, that are smothered by unfriendly environment.

A German born in the slums might never have been heard of—A Paderewski reared in a community barren of music would never have become a great pianist.

So in his "Applied Sociology," Professor Ward declares that society possesses "unworked mines" of human resources. "Only 10 per cent of these resources," he says, "have been developed. Another 50 per cent are somewhat developed. There remain yet 40 per cent that are almost wholly undeveloped."

This may be an extravagant estimate. Yet when it is recalled that large numbers of boys are shut out into any job that offers, and what little opportunity many of them have for finding out just what they are fitted for, and how scant their training is, there evidently is bound to be a great waste of boys.

Society can be sure that it is making the most of human resources only when it makes certain that every child has a chance to develop in accordance with its natural bent, along lines that are worth while.

The production of a Napoleon once in 2,000 years would not compensate for the suppression of a Newton, a Pasteur, a Rembrandt, a Poe, a Dickens, a Longfellow and a Stevenson.

PROBATIONARY CITIZENSHIP

From the Christian Science Monitor.
Specific reasons why the problem of immigration in its relation to civic welfare is being debated with somewhat more than academic interest at the present time are not so far beneath the surface of national life as to elude even the dullest observer. The same forces that recently induced congress to act rigorously, unshaken in their intention to alter present untoward conditions, will be highly active when the lawmakers next meet, and with Secretary Wilson and President Wilson in power, it is likely that results different from those shaped by Messrs. Nagel and Taft will follow.

A sign of the times in a recent communication from Admiral Goodrich of the navy in which he urges that the nation exercise far more discretionary power with respect to naturalization and admission to full rights of citizenship. The point he stresses is, that so important a matter should be guarded more rather than less and that as in so many forms of social cooperation where the final reward is a great privilege, suffrage should be bestowed only after a probationary testing time. The estimable naval officer has given expression to a theory of American citizenship that is worthier than the conventional one. The only sort of an organization, civic, ecclesiastical, educational or industrial, that has a title to long continuance is one that makes moral worth and intelligence the final tests of enlistment and tenure, and that also has as wide a door for full citizenship. When little local citizenship comes automatically or as the result of superficial tests, and when it is not withdrawn as the result of failure to exercise its duties, then a nation can hardly expect to have a noble form of life.

The claimant need of the United States at the present time is not more citizens but better ones, not wider doors for aliens but stricter tests of natives who inherit citizenship and of foreign-born residents who seek suffrage. That which is hardly won is valued aright and is kept unimpaired. That which comes without effort seldom is used well. A privilege that may be lost is far more likely to be cherished than one which is secure.

A DISCREET SPORTSMAN

From the Fort Plain (N. Y.) Standard.
Liam McEwan, while fishing recently, caught a fine 18-inch black bass in the Canajoharie creek, and sportsmanlike returned it to its watery home, because of the closed season for that species of fish. Game Protector Gaubing, being nearby, praised McEwan for his observance of the game law.

A Common Mistake

BY RUTH CAMERON

The other day I heard a self-sufficient young man calmly announce that all this classical music which people make such a fuss about is stuff and nonsense. "Most people just pretend to like it," he said. "There is no real music to it."

Now, as I believe I have said in a previous talk, I have all respect in the world for anyone who will be honest about his preferences. In such matters, even when they differ from those of the majority, I like the honest man who admits his preferences (Gordon to Shakespeare, and "Row, Row, Row" to a selection from Wagner), but I don't like the man who insists that he is right in his preferences, and that all the cultured and educated people who think differently from him are fools.

And yet this is the attitude of a great many people take in many matters. Of course, the world would never progress at all unless people thought for themselves and had the courage to question the established order, but there is a big difference between the attitude of intelligent inquiry and the attitude of arrogant contempt which the young man I quote, and a great many people, young and old, assume.

Personally I must say I like the simpler melodies, and would infinitely rather hear a good singer sing some old folk song like "Coming Through the Rye" than an aria from an opera. But I believe that this is simply because I haven't sufficient musical knowledge to appreciate the more wonderful music, and I take every opportunity to hear it in the hope that some day I may understand it and enjoy it as I should.

It is not right to pretend to like anything or not like anything just because other people like it or believe in it. But neither is it right to entirely ignore the opinion of any large class, especially when they are educated and intelligent people. Spencer, himself one of the most independent thinkers of the world, says that when any idea or custom has persisted for centuries you can be sure there must be some good at the root of it, no matter how foolish it may appear. And so when any idea or custom is approved by millions, beware how you set yourself against it. There is one chance that you are right and the rest of the world wrong. There are nine million, nine hundred and ninety-nine chances that you are wrong and the rest of the world right.

CYNICS

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

A cynic is a man who is from Missouri, but can't be shown.
Cynicism is the first step towards wisdom. All boys are cynics. They are too intelligent to believe anything their parents tell them. But some keep right on being cynics for the rest of their lives.

After a man has become a chronic cynic, it is impossible for mankind to fool him with any pretended virtues. The cynic is so wise that he sees through virtue as if it was a screen door. To the cynic piety is a parade, honesty is bargaining for a higher price, decency is hypocrisy, and philanthropy is high class condescension.

OLD MS SWATT HAS GIVEN A COLD MILLION TO THE HOME FOR SUPERANNUATED CAB DRIVERS

"Philanthropy is high class advertising."

George Washington, according to the cynic, told the truth because the circumstances of the time were overwhelming. Benedict Arnold was the man who got first chance at British gold, and Abraham Lincoln was looking for the colored vote when he freed the slaves. You can't fool the cynic with any of those old Bible stories, either. Tell him the story of the loaves and fishes, and he will smile knowingly and say that any modern woman can make a thousand sandwiches for an afternoon reception out of a loaf of bread and a can of salmon.

According to the cynic, reform is always the effect of the urge to get in, and holism is generally recognized as good advertising. The goodness of woman depends upon the credulity of man and the honesty of man upon the lack of opportunity. If a man has held office all his life and died penniless, the foolish world may be impressed, but the cynic only smiles and says that some men have to be bought, but that others can be fooled into voting.

The cynic doubts mother love, laughs at repentance and is the only man who can see through usefulness, and find the hidden aim behind it. But the cynic can always be fooled, and he will. Tell the cynic that he is wiser than other men and he will not only believe you, but will fall down and worship you. That is why so many cynics are married by designing women, and come to terrible ends.

MONKEYS FIND PHILADELPHIA EASY IN DYING

PHILADELPHIA, May 27. Conclusive indication that Philadelphia is still a bad place for monkeys was given at the annual meeting of the Zoological Society. More than half of the monkeys in the collection died in the year of tuberculosis. Some time ago 78 per cent of the monkeys in Philadelphia died in a year.

Cancer in zoo animals is largely due to the depressed mental condition of the animals, incident to their life of captivity, so it is reported by Dr. Weidman, the pathologist. Other facts disclosed by him were as follows:

Cats and foxes are very liable to intestinal diseases.
A jaguar died of pneumonia.
A pleated died of decomposition.
Kangaroos are susceptible to liver and kidney ailments.
An ostrich died of a fractured leg.
An antelope was kicked to death.
Two camels died a-welcoming the stork.

GOV. M'GOVERN VETOES SUFFRAGE REFERENDUM

MADISON, Wis., May 27.—Governor M'Govern today vetoed the bill ordering a referendum in 1914 on the question of extending the ballot to Wisconsin women. The governor objects to the bill on the ground that suffrage having been defeated by a majority of 22,000 in Wisconsin last November, another referendum on the subject so soon would be unwise and would result only in a more rejection. He also argues that affirmative action on suffrage is a mistake, can never be corrected, while unfavorable action may be corrected at any time.

Wisconsin stands for popular rule, says the message, but if the referendum is a good thing, manifestly the results of a popular vote should be properly respected. Such respect will not be shown if almost as soon as the outcome of last year's vote on this subject should be announced, exactly the same proposal be immediately re-submitted without a single new fact or argument to support it. Such action by the legislature can have but one tendency—that of speedily bringing the principle of the referendum to disrepute. I don't consider that enactment of this bill, providing, as it does, for a vote next year, is consistent with the deliberate judgment of the people of this state so recently and so fully registered.

The veto was a surprise and an attempt will be made to put the bill through over the head of the governor.

Bryan Not Too Busy to Do Own Marketing

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Secretary Bryan is not too busy engaged with affairs of state to do the marketing for the Bryan household. Almost any morning the secretary of state may be seen in a local market place with a large basket swinging from his left arm. Bryan seems to enjoy the marketing to the full.

He elbows the crowd and apparently does not mind it any more than he did when making his political campaign tours. Secretary Bryan's fondness for the radish of the white variety is now generally known among market men, and they try to keep on hand the kind he likes. The other day, however, much to Colonel Bryan's disappointment, his favorite vegetable was not to be had.

"You know I'm just crazy about white radishes," said the secretary to a woman shopping behind him. "No other kind will do."

And he continued his search among the stands.

DR. VAN DYKE CHALLENGES PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

From the London Chronicle.
In the sixteenth century the word "imp" had a very different meaning from that which it bears now. One sentence of a prayer composed under Henry VIII for general use in churches ran: "Let us pray for the preservation of the king's most excellent majesty, and for the prosperous success of his entirely beloved son, Edward, our prince, that most angelic imp." The word "brat" has also changed its meaning. A sixteenth century hymn writer, George Gascoigne, refers to "Abraham's brats, that brood of blessed seed."

CHEYENNE, Wyo., May 27.—Exiled from Cheyenne by the state board of pardons Peter Dickerson, a paroled convict, dared not come here to marry Mrs. Anna J. Hall, a widow, but met her in Laramie, where the ceremony was performed Saturday. If he comes to Cheyenne he would have been returned to the penitentiary to serve two years of a term of seven years imposed for perjury. Feeling against him here is still intense for an alleged attack on a woman.

OFFICIAL COUNT ON LEADERS FINISHED

DENVER, May 27.—The official count of votes for commissioner of finance at the recent municipal election was completed today, as to the leading candidates. Clair J. Pitcher received 18,808 votes, Allison Stocker 15,511, L. C. Greenlee 15,755. On "first choice votes" Greenlee was the leader. No contest has yet been filed by Hamilton Armstrong against the election of Alexander Nisbet for commissioner of safety.

Bryan Soon Outline Policy of Consular Service Promotions

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Secretary Bryan expects soon to announce the general policy of the new administration in consular services promotions. The failure of the senate last session to act upon a large list of promotions has resulted in much embarrassment and since that time this has become greater through many additional vacancies caused by deaths, resignations and otherwise.

One young consul nominated for promotion in recognition of extra hazardous service, has been obliged to remain at his old post though suffering from tropical fever. At other posts the consular business is in the hands of vice consuls and junior officers not ordinarily permitted in charge for any length of time. Secretary Bryan has been unable to discuss the question of consular service policy with President Wilson except in a preliminary manner. He expects soon, however, to be able to make an announcement on the subject.

INITIAL DIVIDENDS ARE DECLARED BY CHINO AND RAY COPPER COMPANIES

The directors of the Chino Copper company yesterday declared the initial dividend of $3 a year, or 75 cents a quarter, and the directors of the Ray Consolidated Copper company declared a dividend of $1.50 a year on their stock, both to be paid June 30. The Utah Copper company has declared its regular dividend of $3 per year, and the Nevada Consolidated, its regular quarterly dividend of 37 1/2 cents per quarter, or $1.50 per annum. All four companies are controlled largely by Colorado Springs capitalists, including Charles M. MacNeill and Spencer T. Brown. The Nevada Consolidated stock is about $40 per share, and the dividends, which will be regular, it is announced, amount to a guaranteed interest of 12 per cent per annum. The dividend on Ray Consolidated amounts to a little more than 12 per cent per annum.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WILL WELCOME KANSAS CITY BOOSTERS TODAY

The Kansas City Commercial Club will be here today, about 100 strong, on its annual trade extension trip through the country. The members will come in a special train and will spend a couple of hours in this city viewing as many of the sights as possible in that length of time.

The club issues a paper on board the train, called the "Daily Booster," which is said to be in a class all by itself. The members of the publicity committee and editorial staff are C. R. Butler, chief booster, Val E. Martin and J. N. Russell, assistant boosters; W. R. Dunn, editor-in-chief; F. W. Peck, managing editor; Ralph Guthrie and Freeman Alford, associate editors.

The special train will arrive over the D. & R. G. at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon, and a large delegation from the Chamber of Commerce will be on hand to welcome the Kansas City organization. Many members of the local body own automobiles and will have them at the depot to take the visitors on a view of inspection about the region. A reception will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms during the afternoon, and the visiting pictures will be shown, the moving pictures of the Pike Peak region.

The members of the Commercial Club in the party are:

Freeman Alford, C. H. Baird, Frank Barhydt, F. C. Banks, M. J. Belin, Jr., H. J. Betzler, Otto Booker, Daniel Boone, Jr., F. L. Brittain, G. W. Brown, Charles R. Butler, R. J. Campbell, G. S. TWO MUSIC RECITALS FRIDAY AT COLORADO SCHOOL DEAF & BLIND

Two annual music recitals, one for the younger pupils at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and one for the older students at 8 o'clock that night, will be given at the Colorado School for the Deaf and Blind next Friday. An exhibit of the work of the pupils also will be held that afternoon, before and after the first recital. This exhibit, to be given in an adjoining room, will include the garden and poultry departments, as well as the shops. It will be strictly informal, since no mention of it was made to any officer or teachers of the institution until yesterday noon. While primarily for the benefit of the school itself, in order that the teachers and pupils may see just that is being done in all departments, all visitors will be welcome, particularly those interested in industrial work for school children.

The public also is invited to the two recitals, for which no admission will be charged.

The afternoon recital for the younger students will be as follows:

"Good Roads" Day Friday by Farmers Kit Carson County

Kit Carson county is going to have a "Good Roads" day next Friday, and the Lincoln highway will be the object of the attack. The farmers have agreed to spend several hours of that day in repairing the road and making it first class for the automobile traffic, as well as the traffic of farm wagons between that section and Colorado Springs. A meeting of the Kit Carson County Commercial association will be held tonight at Flagler, which will be attended by Leonard E. Curtis, president of the State Good Roads association and representative of the surrounding counties on the new state highway commission.

The farmers in that section have had the road surveyed and are prepared to go ahead and make their part one of the best stretches of highway in the state. This will materially aid Colorado Springs in its efforts to have the Lincoln highway ready for the summer autoists.

TO STIMULATE INTEREST IN POTATOES AND CORN

A campaign to make El Paso county one of the leading sections in potato production in the state now is being arranged by County Agriculturalist W. H. Lattek, who is planning a number of experimental tracts for potatoes in the eastern part of the county. The Division section of eastern El Paso county was formerly noted for its potatoes, the flavor being rated as the best in the west. The selection of seed, treatment of ground, spraying and cultivation to prevent diseases, hill selection and other points connected with growing, will be emphasized on the experimental tracts, which will be about six acres in size. A large quantity of seed potatoes already have been received by the farmers.

It also is planned to stimulate corn raising in a similar manner this year in order to show the farmers that seed selection and the scientific treatment of soil will aid them in getting larger returns.

Farmers in eastern El Paso county are agitating the establishment of a truck line between Colorado Springs and their section in order to facilitate the hauling of produce to this city. They argue that they are too busy with their crops to haul produce to town, and they feel that with an auto truck line they would make more money, have more time and stimulate the truck line's business. It is understood that a group of business men is considering the establishment of the truck line this fall.

A new farmers' club will be organized Friday night at Squirrel Creek, 53 miles southeast of Colorado Springs. These clubs are proving most successful, and are stimulating interest in what the government is trying to do for El Paso county farmers.

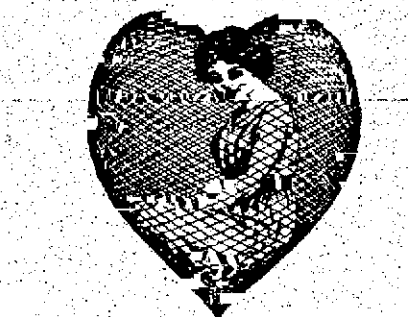

COLORADO CITY SEEKS REVALUATION PROPERTY

The appointment of a special commission to revalue the property in Colorado City has been asked of the county commissioners and Assessor R. J. Gwiltm by a delegation of property owners from that city, comprising Frank L. Wolff, H. J. Meagher and several others. The delegation bases its request on the ground that the valuation is now too high because the city is "dry" and a great many places are vacant, saying that there has been a depression in business and property is no longer as valuable as it was a year ago. The commission was not promised that the commission will be appointed, but promised to take the matter under advisement.

More Sunshine Than Ever Now in Colorado Springs

"Sunshine" Ray Williams is in Colorado Springs on a walk from East Aurora, N. Y., to the Pacific coast. He is a member of the Elbert Hubbard's Roosevelt colony at East Aurora, and is the originator of the plan upon which the International Sunshine society was formed. About 18 years ago he was taken out of a homeopathic hospital for the insane by Elbert Hubbard, and ever since that time he has been with Hubbard's magazine, the Philistine.

Williams started from East Aurora, February 2, and is making the walk to the coast by easy stages. He will remain in Colorado Springs for two or three days, taking in the sights.

The Perfect Baby Of The Future
A Simple Method That Has a Wonderful Influence upon The Future Infant.
Too much can not be said for a wonderful remedy, familiar to many women as Mother's Friend. It is more eloquent in its action than all the health rules ever laid down for the guidance of expectant mothers. It is an external application that spreads its influence upon all the child's muscles, ligaments and tendons that nature calls into play; they expand gracefully without pain, without strain, and thus leave the mind care-free and in joyful anticipation of the greatest of all woman's ambition.

Mother's Friend must therefore be considered an directly a most important influence upon the character and disposition of the future generation. It is a wonderful fact that, with causes, pain, nervousness and dread banished, there is stored up such an abundance of healthy energy as to bring into being the highest ideals of those who fondly theorize on the rules that insure the coming of the perfect baby.

Mother's Friend can be had at any druggist at $1.00 a bottle, and is unquestionably one of those remedies that always has a place among the cherished few in the medicine cabinet.

Mother's Friend is prepared by the Bradford-Regulator Co., 130 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., after the formula of a noted family doctor. Write them for a free literature book, and expectant mothers see that your druggist will supply you with Mother's Friend.

Captured by Owner of Horse He Stole and Brought Here; Confesses

Sherman S. Wilson, colored, charged with stealing a horse at Wayne, Colorado, yesterday morning, waived preliminary examination before Judge Cowdy, and was bound over to the district court for the sum of $1,000. In default of bond he was committed to the county jail.

Wilson had been working in a Huerfano street livery stable, but left here Saturday night, and Sunday morning stole a horse from the pasture of John Heaton, at Wayne, 35 miles east of Colorado Springs, while Heaton was at church. Late that afternoon Heaton, in his search for the horse, learned that some children had seen a colored man like it from the pasture and ride away. He, Homer Coan and John Decker started in pursuit.

Wilson, in Decker's automobile, and although one of the tires gave out, they caught Wilson 45 miles southeast of Wayne, Monday morning. They took him back to Wayne, and later brought him to this city in a wagon belonging to Heaton. Wilson's family lives at Ordway, and is said to be well to do. He is said to have confessed to stealing the horse.

GETS LONG SENTENCE

Sam Loper, colored, charged with stealing a horse from W. C. and C. C. Dockum, ranchmen living south of Colorado Springs, changed his plea to guilty before Judge John E. Little, in the district court yesterday morning, and was sentenced to from eight to 10 years in the state penitentiary. Loper has already served five terms in the penitentiary and one in the state reformatory, although he is only 34 years old, according to the testimony of Chief of Police Burns.

Loper recently completed a term in the penitentiary for horse stealing in Douglas county, and testimony was introduced in the local court to show that 10 days after he was released he stole the Dockum horse. It was also testified that he planned the theft several months ago, while working with the convict road gang, near the Dockum ranch.

IN WIFE'S TRIAL NEGRO SAYS HE GAMBLER FOR A LIVING; GETS 6 MONTHS

One sentence, blurted out thoughtlessly in the district court yesterday afternoon in testimony intended to help his wife, who was on trial for keeping a disorderly house, brought Charles Vinson, a negro, a sentence of six months in the county jail and a fine of $300 from Judge John E. Little for gambling. His trial and his sentence were carried through in lightning time, for the statement that he gambled for a living had not been out of his mouth more than a few minutes before Judge Little passed the word to District Attorney Purcell to have a direct information prepared against him.

When his wife's case went to the jury Vinson was brought up. He at first pleaded not guilty, but, with his own damaging words, under oath on the witness stand, against him, he asked to be allowed to change his plea. While the jury was still out on the case in which he had testified, Vinson was sentenced to jail because of what he had admitted in his testimony. He already is serving a term in the jail, which will not expire till July 4, and he will have to begin serving out his new sentence after that. This assures his presence in jail until well into 1914.

The negro had gone on the stand in the trial of his wife, Lizzie Vinson, for running a disorderly house, and was asked whether or not he lived off the earnings of his wife. He replied:

"No, I gamble for a living."

This statement was all there was to bring up against him, for the court officers had no other evidence in the case. Vinson said afterwards that the reason he admitted the guilt which brought him his sentence was that he was on the witness stand, where he had to tell the truth. The jury in his wife's case was out only a few minutes, and found the woman guilty of running a disorderly house. Vinson, it is said, has served a term in the penitentiary for grand larceny.

H. M. BLACKMER TO HANDLE FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT OF REED-SHOUP ENTERPRISES

Henry M. Blackmer has resigned as president of the International Trust company of Denver to take charge of the financial end of the Midwest Oil company and allied Reed-Shoup-Hopkins-Schuyler interests. Mr. Blackmer is a large stockholder in these interests and has a high standing in the financial world. His successor as president of the International company has not yet been chosen. He will still remain a director of that institution, and also will remain president of the allied Cripple Creek lines.

It has not been fully decided exactly what Mr. Blackmer's work with the Midwest Oil company will be, but he expects to have his headquarters in Denver, and his attention will be devoted to the financial department. Other enterprises of the Reed-Shoup group of operators will be evolved, and the probable outcome will be the establishing of a central department to handle the finances of the different concerns. Mr. Blackmer formerly was a resident of Colorado Springs.

MANY SOCIAL FEATURES PLANNED BY DELEGATES

The joint annual meeting of the American Association of General Baggage Agents and the Western Association of General Baggage Agents, which will be held in Colorado Springs, June 4-5-6-7, will be featured by a number of lively social events, according to word received at the Antlers hotel, where the associations will have headquarters. R. W. Price, secretary of the western body, has written the hotel that the entertainment committee plans a ball, smoker, vaudeville show and banquet. Between 200 and 300 baggagemen from all over the country will be present.

SPRINGS WELL ADVERTISED

"A Colorado Summer" is the new advertising booklet issued by the Santa Fe railroad, in which Colorado Springs is especially featured. Birdseye views of Colorado Springs and Manitou, and scenes of famous tourist attractions in this section are presented. Other scenery than that found on the Santa Fe system also is described and pictured.

GREEN POST CARDS TO BE FASHION HEREAFTER

Uncle Sam is paying attention to Dame Fashion's decrees according to word received at the local postoffice. Postmaster General McAdams has ordered that "post cards" be changed to "green cards," and hereafter the popular green hue. The first batch of green cards is expected in the local office within a few days.

Woman's Beauty is Based on Health

To Have Health, Bowel Movement is Absolutely Necessary How Best to Obtain it

If woman's beauty depended upon cosmetics, every woman would be a picture of loveliness. But beauty lies deeper than that. It lies in health. In the majority of cases the basis of health and the cause of sickness can be traced to the action of the bowels. The head, the face, the skin, the low skin and the lusterless eyes are usually due to constipation. So many times that women do habitually conclude to this trouble. They do not eat properly. They eat indigestible foods because the foods are served daintily and they do not exercise enough. But whatever the particular cause may be, it is important that the condition should be corrected.

MRS. JENNIE SNEDEKER

Pepsin acts mildly but permanently. It can be conveniently obtained at any drug store at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded. You will find it gentle in action, pleasant in taste, and free from griping, and its tonic properties have a distinct value to women. It is the most widely used laxative-remedy in America today, and thousands of families are now never without it.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin, and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

COMPREHENSIVE ARCHAEOLOGICAL LECTURES HERE, JUNE 29-JULY 18

Plans are almost completed by the Colorado Springs society of the Archaeological Institute of America for a series of lectures in this city from June 29 to July 18. The lectures will be of a wider scope than those arranged by the society last year, and should appeal strongly to the people of Colorado Springs, as well as to visitors.

The history of Palestine before and after the period of Jewish supremacy, as well as during Biblical times, Roman history and life, Greek women, early American civilizations and lectures on Raphael and Rembrandt, are some of the subjects that will be taken up by the speakers.

A lecture room in Palmer hall has been placed at the disposal of the society by the authorities of Colorado college, and a great part of the lectures will be held there, while several on appropriate subjects will be given at one of the churches Sunday evening.

The following lecturers will be brought here by the society: Prof. Lewis B. Paton, of the Hartford Theological seminary, Prof. H. R. Fairclough, of Leland Stanford university, Prof. Mitchell Carroll, general secretary of the Archaeological Institute of America; Dr. Edgar L. Hewett, director of the School of American Archaeology at Santa Fe, N. M., and Prof. M. F. Libby of the University of Colorado.

The sale of cigarettes and intoxicants to children in the Isle of Man was prohibited for years before such a prohibition was enforced in England. Englishmen have legislated mildly against money lenders. The highest interest that can be charged in the island is 4 per cent, and that has been the law for more than 200 years.

"NO MORE HOLLERIN'" AT BAR OF DISTRICT COURT

The days of the men "who have hollered at this bar" are gone, so far as the district court here is concerned. No more will lawyers shake their fists in the faces of witnesses, and no more will they lean over the railing of the jury box to shout their arguments into the ears of the jurors. A high, flat-topped desk has been installed in the court room, and hereafter attorneys must stand at it when examining witnesses or when addressing the jury.

This system is in use in the different divisions of the district court in Denver and Judge Little and Judge Shear, both of whom have been holding court here recently, were favorably impressed with its advantages. As the court is now being reorganized, commissioners for such a desk and had it installed in their court.

The local court has a ruling that attorneys must stand when examining witnesses or addressing the jury, and because they have had no convenient way of handling their papers, this has led to some confusion, together with much sitting down and setting up of the attorneys conducting the case. As the attorneys can place their necessary papers on the new desk, all this confusion will be eliminated.

Part of the reason for installing the desk was to keep the attorneys in place, according to the district judges. Often in the past they have hung over the jury rail or come almost into the witness box to shake their fists in the faces of those testifying, but all this will be done away with.

Denver Runaway Boys, Arrested Here, Escape From Detention Home

Louis Gline, Harry Gilbert and Frank Cunningham, the three 13-year-old Denver boys who were arrested here Monday night after having run away from home, escaped from the Detention home yesterday. They had been given the liberty of the yard, and slipped away while the matron was not looking.

CAMP DELWOOD NEWS

Next Saturday evening there will be a "campers' dinner-up" for all fellows who have signed up for the Y. M. C. A. Delwood camp. This will be a fine time, and after the supper several things of interest to all the fellows will be sprung; also the decorations and suggestions to the campers will be given at this time. This leaves four days for those who are planning to go on the camp to sign up and get in on this Saturday night stunt.

The names and deposits for the camp are coming in very rapidly, and there are strong indications that the total will reach 50 before the time to start for the mountains comes. The leaders are very much pleased with the spirit shown so early before the camp, and are looking for corresponding results to follow. Arrangements were completed with Chief W. J. Jones to go as camp cook, and it was definitely announced yesterday. The camp is very fortunate in being able to secure a cook of such recognized ability.

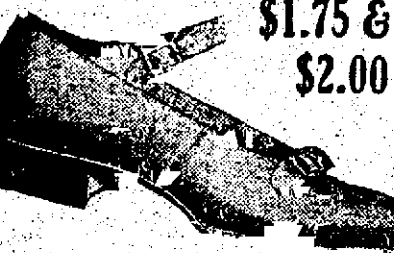

Miss Adele Hexter will motor today to Denver, where she expects to spend the remainder of the week with friends.

GOV. JOHNSON FLAYS REFERENDUM AGITATOR ON JAP ALIEN BILL

SAN JOSE, Cal., May 27.—In a letter received today by Walter G. Mathewson, secretary of the San Jose Labor council, Gov. Hiram W. Johnson declares the antialien law enacted recently "is one of the most drastic laws which has ever been introduced in the California legislature." He asserts that "any man who claims to favor an alien law that will sign a referendum against this law is either an idiot or a hound."

For over half a century there has been no referendum for the last eight years," says the governor's letter. "provided in one fashion or another for leasing, and the only two bills that were seriously discussed during Mr. Bryan's stay here provided not only for leasing of lands, but for the right to purchase and hold for a limited period a well."

Commenting on labor opposition to the alien law because it was regarded as less drastic than desired, the governor says:

"I have been shocked and horrified at the attitude of some of the labor people of San Francisco, but I am proud to say that those labor leaders whom we respect have taken the same position that your people in Santa Clara county have taken. We have done the big thing in this alien law legislation. We have laid the ghost that has been with us so many years and we have gone ahead and legislated on a subject that it was our legal and moral right to legislate upon."

TWO KILLED, MANY HURT IN COLLISION

BRANT, Mo., May 27.—Two engineers were killed and several other persons, including a number of passengers, were injured in a head-on collision between passenger trains No. 11 westbound and No. 12 eastbound, on the Missouri Pacific railway, near here, early today.

The dead:

ALBERT FORD, engineer, Sedalia, Mo.

LIGE McLAUGHLIN, engineer, Sedalia, Mo.

No. 11 and No. 12 were twin trains, the two fast main lines between St. Louis and Kansas City. The trains were to have passed on a siding at McGirk, Mo., the first station east of Brant. No. 11 failed to wait at McGirk. Going at a high rate of speed, the two locomotives plowed into each other. Both were demolished and the engineers crushed and scolded.

The trains, alike in make-up, consisted of three steel main cars, a chair car, a dining car and four sleeping cars.

MUST PAY ALIMONY AFTER WIFE DIES

COLUMBUS, O., May 27.—The Ohio supreme court has decided that once a man is to pay alimony by order of the court he is not to be exempt from paying even if the wife dies. The decision was given in the case of William G. Stoneman and Mary E. Stoneman, her executrix. Divorce was granted Mrs. Stoneman in September, 1907, the decree including restoration of her maiden name and alimony.

The alimony was fixed at $4,720, to be paid in installments within three years. Mrs. Stoneman died and the executrix sued for $1,000 still due. Stoneman contended that because his wife had died and had left no children and the estate solvent he could not be held for the alimony.

INVESTIGATORS VIEW SCENE OF DISASTER

LOS ANGELES, May 27.—Members of the county grand jury, accompanied by the district attorney to view the scene of the pier disaster of Saturday at Long Beach. It was stated while there had been no change in the plan to have the coroner conduct the entire investigation alone beginning Thursday, it was thought wise to have the grand jurors familiar with the situation.

Experts appointed to inspect the ruins began their work today. They will be expected to furnish the data upon which the coroner's jury can arrive at a conclusion as to the cause of the disaster and the responsibility for it. According to reports from Long Beach, Margaret Reed, aged 12, and Otis Hash, 13, who slid into the death pit, are expected to die at any moment.

News of Local Courts

CLEMENCY SHOWN

Linnet chairman aged 23 years pleaded guilty to a charge of grand larceny before Judge J. L. Applegate yesterday, and was sentenced to an indefinite term in the state reformatory at Lansing, Mich. His confession his good record and the fact that he has been since his arrest been helping to earn a living for his aged parents were all that saved him from being sentenced to the penitentiary. His parents live in Green county, Mo. and for a time he has been giving practically all his wages to them. District Attorney Purcell asked that the court show clemency in the case. Chairman had been employed at the Penrose ranch, south of Colorado Springs, and April 6 took checks amounting to $174.75 from the ranch.

A suit to enforce specific performance of contract, and for $1,000 damages, has been filed in the district court by Fred A. Morath against W. L. Applegate. The case is a result of an alleged contract in which Applegate was to transfer certain land in Montezuma county, Colo. and a lot in Monte Vista, Colo. to Morath in exchange for two lots in Roadmoor. According to the contract, all the steps in the deal were to be concluded and the transfers made within 30 days or else the party whose land had not been conveyed was to own the other $1,000 damages. Morath in his complaint alleges that Applegate has refused to convey his land, and asks that he be compelled to do this. He also asks the $1,000 damages provided for by the contract and $1,000 damages for the refusal to convey.

Mrs. Gabriella Pollock was granted a divorce from Ransom H. Pollock by Judge Kinney in the county court yesterday on grounds of cruelty. She also was given the custody of their two children, Betty, aged 4 years and Fannie, aged 2. The couple were married in Springfield, Mo. March 1907.

A suit for divorce was filed in the county court yesterday by Mrs. Pauline A. Link against Charles M. Link. The couple were married in this city October 10, 1909 and have one child, Richard Charles, Link, 5 years old. Mrs. Link alleges cruelty and asks the custody of the child and $10 a month for its care.

Justice Gould yesterday sentenced James McDonald to 90 days in the county jail for petty larceny, the case arising out of the theft of some empty sacks from the Robinson grain company. McDonald, who came here recently from Denver, is a morphine fiend and a long sentence was imposed on him in order that he may be cured of the habit if possible.

James Colledge and Harry Carr, charged with larceny and breach in connection with the theft of 25 boxes of cigars from a boxcar in the Short Line yards last Friday night, valued preliminary examination before Justice Dunnington yesterday and were bound over to the district court in default of bond they were committed to jail.

The routine fines in police court yesterday morning were as follows: H. Gaudier and G. Purdie, who were taken from a Rio Grande train Monday night $5 and costs each for drunkenness and disturbance. F. Nelson $10 for vagrancy. A. Vickers and James Brennan $10 each for drunkenness and insulting women in Monument Valley park. Nelson was committed to jail to serve out his sentence and $15 of Fackrell's fine was remitted on good behavior.

Laura Bell charged with conducting an objectionable house pleaded guilty in the district court yesterday through her attorney W. D. Lombard. Judge Little fined her $50 and costs.

Joseph Dempsey was arrested by the police yesterday and is being held for officers from the state reformatory at Buena Vista where he is wanted for breaching parole. Dempsey was originally sentenced to Buena Vista from Castle Rock for assault and robbery.

Ray Jewell who was arrested by the police Monday night for attempting to steal a fountain pen at the Russell pharmacy is being held on a warrant from Justice W. H. Gould's court charging him with petty larceny. Jewell is a known friend who after his arrest Monday night it developed that he had secured a pad of prescription blanks belonging to a local physician and was writing prescriptions for the drug in them and signing the doctor's name.

Only two traffic violators Fred Goodspeed and Dr. Webb were arrested yesterday. Police Judge Clyde Starrett resumed his duties yesterday taking up Monday's arrests. C. C. Shadford and A. DeRolf had been ordered into court but did not appear and were fined $5 each. J. A. Masten was cautioned against tying his horse to an ornamental light pole and was released. W. H. Green, Dr. C. W. Cox, C. F. Bibb, W. R. Haffner, J. E. Cox and G. Christy were fined $1 each for violating the traffic ordinance but the fines of Green and Cox were suspended. A young man named Randy was fined $2 and the case against W. R. St. John and J. F. Rose were dismissed.
